The college places a high priority on research and teaching excellence with an expectation that the candidate will also be active in their professional field.

The successful candidate will:

- Establish a productive research agenda informing the field of bilingual education, seek external funding, and contribute to the national and local discourse and scholarship around bilingual education.
- Teach in all modalities (in-person, online, and hybrid) and at all levels in areas of expertise and department curricular need.
- Assume progressive responsibility for the bilingual education programs in the Department of Curriculum and Teaching and assume a significant leadership role including the recruiting, advising, and mentoring of graduate students at the masters and doctoral levels.
- Perform service as appropriate to the department, college, university, profession, and community.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

- Doctorate in Bilingual Education, TESOL, Language Education, Educational Linguistics, Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Child Education and Development, or closely related field. ABD considered but doctorate must be completed before employment.
- Previous higher education teaching experience
- Demonstrated success or potential for strong productivity in research, grant writing and scholarship with a focus on bilingual students.
- 3 years teaching experience with underserved populations.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Certification as a bilingual teacher and experience teaching literacy to emergent bilinguals.
- Strong academic proficiency in Spanish.
- Successful university level teaching, pre-service teaching supervision experience and expertise
- Interest in technology and online learning.
- Grant writing experience.
- Demonstrated ability to connect the knowledge specific to bilingual education in working with communities and families of bilingual students.
- Experience in program development, consultation, and/or administration of bilingual programs in pre-K-12 public schools
- Demonstrated ability to collaborate with others in order to support academic programs in the college as well as faculty teaching and research interests.

Compensation

CUNY offers a competitive compensation and benefits package to its faculty, covering health insurance, pension and retirement benefits, paid parental leave, and savings programs. We also provide mentoring and support for research, scholarship, and publication as part of our commitment to ongoing faculty professional development.

Assistant Professor $42,873 - $88,418
